

Returning Soldiers Say Nazi Advantage In Air Great Factor

could tell the German a different story. As it is they have got as much as they have given and we are not being bombed and machine-gunning men in the water."

Five Belgian officers in the north were picked up. They were almost naked and we have had no food since yesterday at midday and no sleep for three days.

"We do not intend to stop fighting. We are waiting to board the long train tanks ready to speed them to the hands of the British. English countryside, bakers working, putting up with the rain, volunteers, regardless of fatigue and long hours, out mountains of sandwiches and served rivers of tea at makeshift canteens for men who had a week and only snatches of sleep for the last two weeks."

NEW MAGNETIC. A lieutenant in charge of one of the naval vessels brought home the news that a week and only snatches of sleep for the last two weeks."

One of the French soldiers who brought these brought in English news said that in the withdrawal toward the coast, "we saw machines-gunning as often we almost got to it."

"We always were ready to jump into the water. In the water, German planes sweeping low and moving down refugees and others indiscriminately. We continued 'Always there. Some one who did not see again. One almost got to that boat."

WELL-EARNED REST. It was wonderful that the battle-worn thousands will be given a well-earned rest. A short leave home was granted to them after they were reassembled.

One French soldier, reaching safety and he and 21 comrades were in a French ship which struck a magnetic mine and sank. He alone was rescued.

Some reached men were in such a state they had to be met at the ship with uniforms before they could land.

SPRIT UNBROKEN. Already a large proportion of the B.E.F. is now returning to their spirit unbroken after having been in the front line for a long time.

"Before our troops made their retreat," said a British officer, "they have in almost every case succeeded in blowing up gasoline dumps and leaving nothing useful to the enemy. They stand up to the risk at the risk of capture or being shot."

Many of the survivors had to swim to the coast, a group of bomb splinters. But one of their officers said that the group was "Our losses in the last few days have been far less than might be expected. But in the last few days the German command has been unable to show any sign of a breakthrough."

WORD "HUN" REVIVED. With the return of B.E.F. survivors, the word "Hun" being used for the first time since the war started. One soldier, telling of German bombing and strafing attacks on Belgian refugees, said:

"There was no excuse for this. I never forgot the way those Hun treated the refugees."

Tough. The soldiers who insisted they would be returning to France at the first opportunity declared that they wanted "more planes and it will be a different story."

Still to be defeated from the din of battle that they scarcely could hear, they were told that the Hun was being used for the first time since the war started. One soldier, telling of German bombing and strafing attacks on Belgian refugees, said:

The Tomlinson said word of the surrender of the British army exposed their left flank to the German. The first came as a rumour which no one believed.

There always had been rumors of different sorts, a young German remarked, "but we realized this one and the real thing a few hours later, when the Germans suddenly appeared all around."

"They were firing at us from what had been Belgian lines until the real thing came. There was nothing to it."

CHANCE OF TRAMPING. "Then came hours of tramping along roads and across fields, and the real thing came. There was nothing to it."

"We never knew when German machine guns would begin firing from behind some hedge or clump of trees. They seemed to be sending every corner."

An officer from a destroyer that helped cover the embarkation with her guns and then acted as an escort for the transport described a shattering scene in Flanders as he saw it from the bridge of his ship.

There is not a wall in the place that is more than ten feet high. He said, "What I remembered as a little high wall of tall, white and black, and what I saw in the last of a pile of rubble."

It collapsed like a pack of cards. The navy and marine continued shelling across the channel, and the fishing smacks were prepared to service because they could operate in the shallows.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Next time you start brooding about the way your husband is losing his hair, be glad you're married to your favorite screen hero—who is probably losing his much more rapidly! After an interview with Gladys George, sparkling comedienne, or superb athletic actress, you will be quire, we gloriously suspect every handsome masculine thing in pictures. More than likely, it's only a toupee.

Begin by sitting erect with arms stretched overhead against ears, then twist around to the sides.

But some years ago when she was a struggling actress and had to live on 25 cents a day, the discarded star by eating the right foods was able to eat well without much trouble.

She likes foods that are broiled, baked or roasted and never touches fried, fatty, greasy, or rich foods. She practices salad without dressing—her idea of a delicious salad is crisp head lettuce with celery salt and lemon. She doesn't eat sweets. Weight is no problem to anyone with those food habits.

For exercise, she dances. She loves to dance and would do nothing better than to dance for hours each night after the show. That is marvelous exercise for the figure, and her measurements are Bust, 34 inches; waist, 24 1/2 inches; hips, 33 inches.

Her figure today is the envy of many an actress on stage and screen. When you see her, you will be sure to hear her say, "Mother, praise the good thing. The doesn't look a day over 24."

Your dietitian, Ida Jean Kain.

From what you gather, the more popular the star, the less his character is of calling his hair his own. The trouble may be the long hours under the Klieg lights which we are reminded, don't do anybody any good. Or it may be the hectic pace. But it seems that a very high percentage of the movie idols resort to the hair-dresser's artistry and while picture making no wonder it's hard to recognize the newspaper photographs of some of the stellar heads.

MISS GEORGE AND LEONARD PENN, her good-looking husband, have been thankful to find that Mr. Penn's hair is flourishing. But they have been the matter considerable thought. The day may come, however, when he will be told by a man-or-woman-can't-do better than to brush vigorously for several minutes a day. His stock case is that of a young nurse who cut her hair very short and abandoned her hairbrush. First thing she knew, her hair was falling out by the handful. She went back to brushing and her hair gradually thickened again.

That's all there is on the subject of hair this time!

As a matter of fact, this talk with Miss George was supposed to revolve about her weight control. She is only five feet three inches tall and her weight never goes beyond 115 pounds. Because her mother, who had been beautiful, allowed herself to become stout.

Don't say you can't do better! Do you feel you must read letters—then mail them away, telling yourself: "Well, I've done the best I can, perhaps they'll get by."

With a little helpful guidance, you can write interesting, clever letters that win friends and jobs.

To make a good impression, avoid stereotyped phrases. Don't start with "It was good of you to write."

"Your advertisement for a salesman in today's."

No peering out for lack of something to say, if you think what the person you're writing to would like to hear. Dig up a lot of gossip for a chum: "Gus and Jim are engaged!"

Write the employer, "I have sold for three years."

"Sincerely yours" ends your letter. Correctly when writing to a friend or to one person in a firm. Sign yourself "Very truly yours" writing to a company.

All your letters, business and social, you write easily and well when you have the pointers in our 25-page booklet. Give sample letters for many occasions; has tips on vocabulary, English, correct form.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

One cannot deny that the ability to speak is largely primary and an intelligence. But many intelligent children refuse to speak even though they are capable of doing so. Some children say only a few words up to the time when they can begin to talk to sentences.

Some refuse to talk because of a blunted hearing, some because personally speech has never been necessary to them.

During the time when children are learning to walk their interest in speech is more for fun to run around. But if children of any age, with the mental ability to use language, find that it is a useful weapon, they will make the effort to acquire it.

EMBARRASSED

Mrs. G. P. U. says that her grand-daughter, who is a 27-month-old, makes no effort to walk. "On various occasions," she writes, "she has said a word or two but when asked to repeat them she acts embarrassed."

"She is far above average intelligence, understands everything said to her, and knows the names of all the objects in the home. But she is very timid. Since the doctor called on her recently she has been terrified everytime anyone passed the house or came to the door."

"We have consulted doctors and the girl says she is backward but will learn to talk."

SELF-CONSCIOUS

That last is obvious, but not very helpful, isn't it? I believe you have made her so self-conscious about talking that she is hesitant to try. Either her unwillingness or her inability have been intensified by your attention to it. It is to be extremely casual about her talking but make it more necessary for her to use speech.

Be sure what she is carrying out her demands and let it go. If she won't try to make her needs articulate, let her hear you say what you should tell her and her intelligence knows, as I feel sure it is, she will begin to use words when there is a need for them. Right now she is hearing you say what you wait on her might be. A nursery school might be a happy experience for her and give her the courage to try out language on children.

You may have read leaflet on "The Timid Child" for the usual explanation and three-cent stamped envelope sent to Mrs. Meyer Eldred in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Myrtle Meyer Eldred will answer your questions about diet, general care and management of children. Write to her and send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter to Mrs. Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

What To Do

"BO" has become the particular bane of the modern period and so much is said about it that the truth is almost lost. B. O. (Body Odor) is as natural as life itself. It is only the particularly offensive perspiration (odor) that can be controlled.

In addition to this, there is always a typical odor for every person. Animals, particularly dogs, can trail a person for long distances, following this odor. There are racial odors, family odors, emotional odors—as when we get angry and there are odors resulting from diet. No two people have exactly the same odor, and these individual odors cannot be obliterated, as can perspiration, by personal cleanliness and baths.

Who should stop off a street car first—the man or woman? And who should enter first? If a man helps the woman on or off, should he go ahead and lead her to a seat? These questions may be asked, but if we both ways done and it is a question which is correct. Think of it this way: If a man helps a woman on or off, he is helping her. If a woman helps a man on or off, she is helping him. If a man helps a woman on or off, he is helping her. If a woman helps a man on or off, she is helping him.

Answer—The street car or bus is practically the only instance where we do not find a private servant to offer assistance. So the man steps off first to see that the street car is clear of passing vehicles and assists the woman as she gets off. The man always helps the woman on the street car and she goes ahead and finds a seat while he pays the fare; the street car and buses today are mostly the pay-in-advance type. The woman takes her place next to the window, the man sitting on the side aisle, so he can conveniently leave first when they reach their destination.

Dorothy Dix Says:

One of the chief grievances of wives is that their husbands do not take any interest in their homes. "Why," wails the Little Woman, "you would think the Little Man, just a boarder or a weekend guest and that all that his home meant to him was just a place to eat and sleep and change his clothes. He hasn't any pride in taking care of it. I have to do things all the time to put up a new shell or plant a flower bed. It is a trial to watch him to have to run their houses without any help from their husbands."

All the other wives sigh sympathetically and say they know just how it is themselves. In one of the dear creatures, even aspects that the reason her husband does not take any part in making or running the home is because she won't let him.

Why wives think that they have a right to monopolize the home, which exists only for the husband's use, nobody knows any more than they know how an editorial gets its power. They just grab it.

Anyway, it is the wife, who, in 50 cases out of 100, picks out the house and the location in which the family lives.

Who has the nice sunny room with the southern exposure in every home? The man who pays the freight? Not much. It is baby-sitters, Grandmas, or Mother's, never Papa's.

Who has all the closet room? Everybody else but Father. He doesn't even have a hook that he can call his own or a hairbrush that is his exclusive property.

Who has to give up his easy chair in the living room and move chair to the dining room every time a cup of milk is to be drunk in the girl? Poor old Dad.

New little as women are to realize it the things that offend them are making them leave every decision to their wives. The reason is that they have never been permitted to have any part in the building up of the home.

The home has never belonged to husbands except technically. Their function in it has simply been that of the bill-payer.

So if wives want their husbands to take an interest in their homes they must make them feel that they are partners in them, with equal rights and privileges. And that is something that women should put in their agendas and make.

There's more behind your gas flame than just a well.

WHEN YOU TURN A VALVE...

125 PEOPLE go to work for you

THERE'S SOMETHING MORE TO THAT LITTLE BLUE FLAME than just mere gas—it's like a precious jewel, valuable only after it has been found, transported from wilderness to civilization, freed from its impurities, and marketed in its final matchless form.

125 PEOPLE AT YOUR FINGER TIPS!—While gas performs its modern miracles in your own home—our scouts are seeking hidden gas reservoirs that will serve your children's children in years to come—our men are drilling wells to replace depletions—laying new lines to serve growing communities—checking and replacing old lines—just a few of the many operations that place gas at your disposal and maintain unflinching GAS service come storm, flood, or sub-zero weather.

USE ALL YOU WANT OR AS LITTLE AS YOU WANT—It's always there, always ready. Perhaps you will need a hurry-up meal—perhaps a baby's cry of distress at midnight—just turn a valve and that instant flame is silent evidence that all along the line—near by or miles away—your GAS company's employees are standing watch waiting for your command.

ALLIES PLACING HUGE ORDERS FOR

U. S. WARD LINE

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
WASHINGTON, May 31—Great Britain and France were reported
Thursday to have placed huge orders during the past 10 days for additional transport airplanes.

The orders, it was said, were for $250,000,000 of the latest type pursuit and bombing planes.

There are additional orders expected by the Anglo-French co-research mission which has completed a $1,000,000 (B) plane buying program here.

Latest available statistics revealed that Britain has ordered 2,000 planes, a total of 7,000 planes in this country since January, 1939. Of these, 2,000 have been delivered and 5,000 are in the process of being built. It will be facilitated by Secretary of State Cordell Hull's modification of the Lend-Lease act to permit American pilots to fly planes into Canada. The change permits American pilots to return to their own headquarters over the hitherto prohibited Canadian provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Alberta and Prince Edward Island.

Liner Bound To Save 1,900 U. S. Refugees

British United Press
NEW YORK, May 31—The United States liner Washington was en route to Italy with accommodations for 1,800 American refugees from the war zone.

The Washington sailed yesterday afternoon for Genoa. The ship's cargo holds are the heavy-armed guard coast guard George W. Campbell, which is being supplied by the Red Cross supplies. The Campbell also carries supplies and material for the United States Army.

Gen. J. C. Penfield, U.S. consul to Genoa and will proceed from Genoa to the ice patrol duty in the North Atlantic.

The Washington will be the first American ship to call at a French port since October.

Peace Move Seen
As Red Army Quits Hungary
RUDAPESST, May 31—Soviet Russia, in a southeastern European country, has been seen to be moving from the Hungarian frontier and Hungary, in return, has suspended plans to call for the Red Army, it was announced officially today.

This action, along with others to settle Balkan disputes, appeared to be a move toward a new peace capital that the axis powers—Germany and Italy—may not spread the war.

$500 PAID FOR PRIZE BULL AT LACOMBE SALE

Highest price at the Lacombe bull sale, held there Thursday, was obtained by Thomas Henderson, son of Lacombe when they sold a yearling Aberdeen-Angus bull to J. Dehnbach of Chiver for $500. One hundred and eight purebred bulls were auctioned off during the day for a gross total of $11,807. C. F. Dameron of Bentley and J. W. Durno, Lacombe, were the auctioneers, while the sale was managed by F. C. Chubb, secretary of the Central Alberta Cattle Breeders' Association. J. Johnson, manager of the University of Alberta stock farm, judged the cattle.

Strongest bidding appeared for the Hereford, with 41 of that type selling for $850, an average of $114 per head. Next in demand were 23 Aberdeen-Angus bulls, which sold for $834, or an average of $107, while 34 Shorthorns averaged brought $265, $107 each.

Results of the judging were: Grand champion Shorthorn, J. A. Chinnery; reserve champion, Hamilton Brothers. Grand champion Aberdeen-Angus, T. Henderson, Lacombe; reserve champion, Dr. H. C. O. Duke, Halkirk. Grand champion Hereford, Mrs. P. M. MacKenzie, Lacombe; reserve champion, F. O. Duke, Halkirk.

CROSSBRED
The rough at Nier Coult, west of Crossfield, displayed an unusual sight on Sunday, May 26, when a cherry and white water buffalo roared gaily over its waters, dodging mosquitoes. The bull is the property of Bruce Sharp, young local trucker, who built it himself from stem to stern, in his spare time.

BIG VALLEY
Several crops were seriously damaged last night when hailstorm passed over the vicinity north of Big Valley and drove many of the fields of wheat into ruin.

Yankees Split Games With Boston Before Great Crowd Of 82,437 Fans

NEW YORK, May 31.—Before 82,437 fans, the third largest crowd in baseball history, the world champion Yankees and Boston Red Sox divided an American League doubleheader, New York winning the first 4-0 and dropping the second 11-4.

Red Ruffing pitching two-hit ball in the opener, the champions sixth straight triumph, and a -hit game until Joe Cronin ailing in the eighth inning. The Yankees scored three runs in the second off Lefty Grove, including Bill Dickey's third homer, and added another in the fourth. It was the season's first defeat for Grove, who retired in the fifth. Rookie Herb Haas pitched the Red Sox to their victory in the doubleheader with the help of a 14-hit offense by his teammates.

Joe Cronin homered with two on in the third and Joe DiMaggio hit for the circuit with one on for the Yankees in the fourth.

Spattering Of Rain Prevents New Records

Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—Dapper Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis drove to his third triumph in the Indianapolis "500," beating out Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., by 2 1/2 miles in the 29th annual motor speed race here Thursday. The pace was slowed by sprinkles of rain.

Shaw became the second driver in the history of the speedway classic to win the event three times and the first ever to win twice in succession. Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Calif., who retired after last year's race, is the only other previous three-time winner.

The 37-year-old Shaw, who first triumphed in 1927 and repeated in 1928, piloted his eight-cylinder car to victory in 4:23.14 to average 112.77 miles an hour, far below the record of 112.300 miles established by the late Floyd Roberts in 1928.

WEATHER HOBBER
Driving the 500 miles without relief and making only two quick stops for gasoline and tire changes. Shaw possibly could have shattered all records for the distance if it had not rained. He had cracked the records at 300 and 400 miles.

After Shaw whizzed past the finishing line on his 37th mile, a yellow flag of caution was waved because of a spinning car and the drivers were forced to reduce their speed for the last 125 miles because officials regarded slippery spots on the track as too dangerous.

After Mays crossed the finish line officials hung out the red flag calling drivers off the track.

FIRST NINE
Mauri Rose of Columbus, O., won third place behind Mays and Ted Horn of Hawthorne, N.J., fourth. Joel Thorne of Tucson, Ariz., fifth. Bob Swanson of Los Angeles, sixth. Frank Wearna of Pasadena, Calif., seventh. Mel Hansen of Los Angeles, eighth and Frank Brisko of Chicago, ninth.

Three accidents—none so fatalities—ended three of the cars out of the race.

Paul Rigall of Buenos Aires, South American driving champion, crashed into an inner guard rail on the southeast turn on his 600th mile. He suffered a wrenched back and cut.

A few seconds later Tommy Henshaw of Reading, Pa., swerved into a retaining wall with the brakes of his car locked. He suffered a fractured arm.

Duke Nalon of Chicago suffered

RIVAL GIRLS' SOFTBALLERS MEET TONIGHT

Blister rivals during a sparkling campaign last season. Army and Navy Pats, provincial senior champions, and Buffaloes, City and intermediate girls softball champions last year and known then as Royals, meet this evening at the New Kingsway athletic park. The starting time is about 7:00 p.m.

Pats again showed their championship form by winning against Alberta Avenue Aces recently. They are in top form and a bitter struggle and so are the Buffaloes under the guidance of Harold Oldring.

In a bitter city championship last season these two teams met. Pats won the first two games, but the Buffaloes failed to win three straight and the championship. That same rivalry may be expected this evening.

Shaking up when his crankshaft broke and sent his car spinning off the track after it had covered 280 miles.

Shaw won more than $20,000. He grabbed the $20,000 first prize and won $3,000 in lap awards. He also will receive other cash awards from automobile concerns.
